You finally have the shoes to go with those clothes: a pair of Timborland handsouns

Timberland's aren't made to just look good fresh out of the box. They're made to look even better a few years down the road.

Our handsewns are made with only premium full-grain leathers. They're soft and supple when new and, like any fine leathers, they get that beautiful aged look as they get old.

We use only solid brass evelets, so they won't rust Nylon thread on all stitching and chrome-tanned rawhide laces because they last longer And long-wearing leather or rugged Vibram' soles because they're unbeatable for resistance to abrasion

The final ingredient: Timberland's genuine handsewn moccasin construction. (We're one of the few companies still practicing this art.) This results in shoes so comfortable. and so well made, that you'll hold on to and enjoy them year after year
